THE SOLDIERS' CONVENTION.

We desire to impress upon the Republican citizens of Pittsburgh and Allegheny the necessity of making provision for the entertainment of delegates to the Soldiers' Convention, which will assemble next week. Hotel accommodations are exhausted in advance, and large delegations from various parts of the country have formally signified their purpose to be present, for which, as yet, no arrangements have been made. If the weather shall prove favorable heavy drafts will necessarily be made upon private hospitality, and in this respect our people have a high reputation, which we trust they will take care to sustain.

The decoration of City Hall will commence to-morrow, and it is desired that as many ladies as can make it convenient to assist in the ornamentation of the room, will be present.

CLEVELAND CONVENTION.

This Convention was held too late in the season to be a success. The President's speeches, together with the Vermont and Maine elections, conspired to dampen the ardor of many who would otherwise have contributed to give it eclat. Then, too, the people of Cleveland were not cordial. Only four flags have been displayed in welcome of the delegates; two over hotels, one over a pawnbrokers' shop, and another over the Plain Dealer office. To-night the Southern Loyalists will be there, and then the frigidity which seems to bend the citizens will melt, and an outpouring of enthusiasm will follow.

MR. VALLANDIGHAM made a speech at Warren, Ohio, on the 17th inst., in which he said:

"He heard from the first, that Johnson was not a supporter of the Union Republican party in sentiment; that he had not deserted them, for he never was with them. He had this from Johnson's own mouth; that Republicans knew it, and only put him on their ticket to make possible a doubtful election. He exulted over the discomfiture of the Republican party, and urged Democrats to profit by their tribulations."

Vallandigham persevered until he finished his speech, closing by attempting to show from his speeches that he had never voted against the soldier, but believed in sustaining a war until the voice of the people decided against it. He declared his approval of the terms of peace made by General Sherman to General Johnston, and intimated that Hon. Mr. Ewing was the author of them. He said there was evidence on record that would some day be [illegible] showing that rebels had offered to contest the Presidency before, on the basis of [illegible] to the Government than Sherman's. That correspondence had been held with himself, by friends of Lincoln's administration, with the President's knowledge, as to what terms of peace it would be advisable to exact.

DISCUSSION.—A discussion of the Constitutional Amendments passed by Congress, and now before the several Legislatures for ratification, will take place in GREENSBURG, Westmoreland county, on Friday, 21st inst., at one o'clock p. m., between Hon. Edgar Cowan and Rev. Wm. D. Moore, who will speak against the Amendments, and several well known Republicans of Allegheny county will speak in favor of them. As this discussion will be of unusual interest, as many Republicans from this county as can conveniently get away, will do well to be present. The 11 o'clock a. m. train will be the best one to go on.

MR. D. M. VAN AUKEN, of Pike county, is the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Eleventh district of Pennsylvania. His Republican competitor is Gen. Williams, of Carbon county. As this is the banner county of the Democracy, Mr. Van Auken's chances are good. He is a gentleman of personal worth and fair abilities, but radically Democratic.

OUR telegrams yesterday announced the nomination of Mr. Wendell Phillips for Congress, by the workingmen of the Third Massachusetts District. This Association are probably masters of the situation Mr. Rice, the incumbent, has declined to serve; and the Republicans may be constrained to accept Mr. Phillips or have a Democrat elected.

C. C. HINSDALE, of Cleveland, Ohio, after experimenting many years, has discovered the process of making Russia sheet iron, which has so long been kept a secret in Russia. A company called the "American Sheet and Boiler Plate Company" is to be organized in that city, for the purpose of manufacturing the "Hinsdale Iron."

THE Dayton (Ohio) Journal, a newspaper which supports the President's Policy, boldly declares that the President and Secretary of State are using the secret service fund to elect democratic members of Congress in republican districts.

THE Democrats are disquieted by the discovery that a good many Irish Americans voted the Republican ticket at the recent election in Maine. What they fear is that this a prophecy of like action elsewhere.

THE Southern journals, having heard the news from Vermont and Maine, have concluded to postpone the disintegration of the Republican party for a year at least.

THE Augusta Constitutionalist asserts that Georgia will take no part in national politics until Mr. Jefferson Davis shall be unconditionally released.

THE New York Herald now strongly urges the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment as a fair and beneficent basis of reconstruction.

GEN. FREMONT has been widely advertised as training with the Cleveland Conventionists. He is not in that crowd, either in body or spirit.

THE meeting which we announced yesterday to be held at Beaver, is not to be held there, but at Frankfort Springs, in Beaver county.

I am, sir, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,

Investigation of the Brenham Riot—New Orleans Riot.

NEW ORLEANS, September 19.—Brevet-Col. Mason, of the 17th infantry, has investigated the late riots. His report on whether the United States soldiers broke up the negro meeting bell, and thinks the two soldiers were afterwards wounded without provocation, and declares that the subsequent burning of three houses was done by men in undress uniforms of the United States, but cannot say positively that they were soldiers.

Captain Smith, of the 17th infantry, commanding the guard there, and four soldiers, charged with the burning, refuse to surrender to the process charging them with the act.

Mr. Overall, the Mayor's Secretary, publishes a letter defending Mayor Monroe's course in the late riot, and states that he (Monroe) acted impartially. He considered General Baird responsible for the riot, although he (Baird) blusteringly denies in his report that Monroe made the assertion.

The secretary of the Treasury has received a communication from an anonymous correspondent at Goldsboro, North Carolina, enclosing two hundred dollars in Confederate Treasury notes, which the writer states he was by mistake overpaid during the last year of the rebellion, in some dealings with a Rebel Quartermaster. Being a Union man, he did not return the money to the Rebel Government, feeling that he was justifiable, under the circumstances, in retaining it. Supposing that the rebel debt might possibly be assumed by the United States Government, he encloses the same to the Treasury.

There was a very large attendance at the Executive Mansion to-day, the visitors seeking an opportunity to converse with the President. Autographs were obtained by several members of Congress, and by others, up to a late hour. There was no general audience to-day, the press of business of the President of important business preventing it.

Cooper, of the Winooski, reports to the Navy Department, under date of the 15th inst., from Port au Paix, Hayti, that the American steamer General Meade, from New York and bound to New Orleans, in tow, having discovered her at anchor at about ten miles east of Cape Dame Marie, the east coast of Florida, with her machinery in a disabled condition.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention, which assembled to-day, passed a series of resolutions disclaiming any spirit of exultation over the late rebels, or disposition to humiliate or degrade them, yet holding that guarantees shall be demanded for future safety. They advocate placing the political power in the hands of men who have proven their loyalty, accord it support in lawful and note authority to prescribe the terms which are declared to be fair and magnanimous. The resolutions also express good faith of the rebels, who seek to gain political power by treachery, and also condemn the lavish use of the pardoning power.

Gen. H. G. Shafter and Gen. Rice have been appointed delegates to the Pittsburgh Convention.

The National Convention—Meeting of the Resident Committee.

Yesterday morning at eleven o'clock, the Resident Committee held another meeting, Gen. A. L. Pearson in the Chair, and Sergt. John H. Kerr officiating as Secretary. Present—Pearson, Gallupe, Bayne, Neeper, Palmer, Crawford, Cook, Kerr, Dalgleish.

It was resolved, on motion of Col. T. M. Bayne, that the business men of the two cities be requested to close their store houses on the 27th, and also that they be requested to decorate their buildings in a manner that will give evidence that the citizens generally extend a cordial welcome to the defenders of the country.

The following Committee, on motion of Gen. G. S. Gallupe, was appointed to wait on the Superintendent of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the purpose of ascertaining if the trains could not be stopped running on Liberty street after six o'clock on the night of the 26th: Col. W. B. Neeper and Gen. G. S. Gallupe.

A most important communication was received from John W. Pittock, stating that he had ordered a large supply of flags and lanterns, and could supply everybody on sight.

The following important letters were then read:

NEW YORK, September 17, 1866.

COMRADES: Please add my name to those that go to make hand to hand fight through.

I endorse Andrew Johnson's deserted principle—"If there are but five thousand loyal men, be they white or black, in a State, they are entitled to all its loyal franchises." I repudiate his subsequent antagonistic fulminations with unutterable loathing.

This abomination before the Lord may be best described in the poet's language than mine:

"Drest in a little brief authority;
Most ignorant of what he's most assured,
His glassy essence, like an angry ape,
Plays such fantastic tricks before high Heaven,
As make the angels weep."

I close with a "three times three" for steadfast Maine.

Yours, most cordially in the good work,
JOHN H. MCMURDY,
Late Midshipman U. S. N.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18, 1866.

General J. S. Negley:—Mr. C. Mellor has kindly consented to take the control and leadership of our "Glee Club." We have the promise of some of the best singers in Pittsburgh to do all they can to help on the good cause. You will meet this evening in the Dispatch office, No. 69 Fifth street. He has also another one at 70 and 81 Federal street, Allegheny City. His stock depot for photographic material is at No. 37 Fifth street, Pittsburgh.

W. T. PERVIANCE.

In the east arm of Floral Hall can be found the collection of Photographs of Mr. W. T. Parviance, whose gallery is on St. Clair street, near the suspension bridge. One of the most beautiful features in this collection is the different views given. Spread out in most beautiful perspective are different towns and country residences of the State of Pennsylvania, the wire suspension bridge, the residence of Mr. B. L. Fahnestock, and many others will be sure to attract the attention of the visitor. Views of the interior of a number of our citizens are also to be seen. The collections are highly creditable to the skill of the artist and Mr. Parviance may well be proud of his display.

MR. B. L. B. DABBS.

We have before called attention to the handsome collection of Mr. B. L. B. Dabbs, whose gallery, on St. Clair street near Penn, attracts so much attention. He has on exhibition some very fine photographs, and ambrotypes and ferotypes and other kinds of portraits. Familiar faces are to be seen along the whole line. These paintings are finished in every style of art, from the cost of a lifesize for ten dollars up to the picture finished in oil for one hundred. Mr. Dabbs has also at his Fifth street rooms a very extensive stock of photographic material, where persons in the business can obtain anything they may desire.

MR. COWLEY IN THE FIELD.

The Iron City College has a beautiful display of fine penmanship and pen drawing, in Artists Hall. The penmanship here is finely executed by Prof. Alexander Cowley's assistants as a chirographer, and, indeed, his reputation is not only local, but national. The specimens of his skill to be found on exhibition in former years, although several new styles of writing may be found in the collection. The principles of penmanship taught by Mr. Cowley in the Iron City College are beautiless, and have been adopted by many of the most expert pensmen of the city. Visitors should not fail to visit the stall occupied by the trade which has rushed to death before the engine could be reversed. The decease was about twenty-four years of age, and resided in Greensburg, Westmoreland county. Yesterday afternoon the remains were removed to Greensburg.

Fatal Accident at the Outer Depot.

A sad accident, producing the death of a young man named J. Armstrong, occurred yesterday morning at the outer depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in the Ninth ward of this city. Mr. Armstrong was a brakeman on a freight train, and was riding on his car at the time of the accident. By some means he was jostled from his seat, and falling across the track was crushed to death before the engine could be reversed. The decease was about twenty-four years of age, and resided in Greensburg, Westmoreland county. Yesterday afternoon the remains were removed to Greensburg.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

In the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday morning, Judge Mellon on the bench, it was announced that the jury in the case of Thos. Morgan, tried for assault and battery with intent to commit rape on the person of Mrs. Milley, were unable to agree, seven being for acquittal and five for conviction. The jury were therefore discharged.

Adams was tried for the larceny of a pocket book and money from a German on Boyd's Hill in July last. He was found guilty and sentenced to undergo an imprisonment of one year in the Penitentiary.

John Leitz was tried for assault and battery, was found guilty, and ordered to pay a fine of twenty dollars and the costs of prosecution.

The Johnstown Benefit.—We published yesterday morning the letter from Mr. C. D. Hess, the gentlemanly and generous manager of the Academy of Music, stating the entire proceeds of the Saturday afternoon matinee for the relief of the sufferers by the terrible Johnstown calamity. Those who second his most praiseworthy efforts on that afternoon will make no sacrifice on their part, for the entertainment offered then will be of the highest order and will be worth twice even the extra price which will be charged. In fact, the extra attractions is offered for the occasion—a bill that would fill the house at any time, and should crowd it to its utmost now. The price of admission will be fifty cents to all parts of the house.

Drowned Man Found.—The body of a drowned man was discovered yesterday morning by the mate of the steamer Resolute, floating in the Monongahela river, near that boat, at the foot of Short street. The body was drawn ashore, and Coroner Clawson summoned to hold an inquest. The body had apparently been in the water for some time, and the features were so disfigured as to render identification impossible. A verdict of "found drowned" was rendered by the jury. The deceased was apparently about thirty years of age, had brown hair, and wore black frock coat, satin vest, blue black pants, white shirt and heavy boots.

False Pretence.—Margaret Hollibrook, appeared before Alderman Taylor, yesterday, and made oath against Stephen Marlin for false pretence. It appears that Marlin obtained a loan amounting to some twenty-five dollars, from the prosecutrix by representing that a certain Michael Comber owed him one hundred and fifty dollars, which he subsequently ascertained to be false. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

The Eagle Fire Company.—The Eagle Fire Company of this city are making extensive preparations to visit Philadelphia on the first of next month. They have received a new uniform from that city which they will wear on the occasion for the first time. They will take with them their new and beautiful hose carriage, which is now being retouched in an artistic manner—greatly enhancing its former beauty.

Meeting in Lawrenceville.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Union Republican citizens of Lawrenceville was held in that borough last evening. Spirited addresses were delivered by several local orators, which were at recess frequently applauded. The opponents of "my policy" will make themselves felt in Lawrenceville on the 9th of October.

Mass Meeting in the Sixth Ward.—On Monday evening next, at seven and a half o'clock, a grand mass meeting of the Boys in Blue and the German Clubs of the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth wards, will be held in the Sixth ward school house. Prominent speakers will be present, and a rousing time may be expected.

Harper's Magazine.—We have received from the newsroom of John W. Pittock, opposite the Postoffice, the October number of Harper's Magazine. The number is an excellent one. The illustrated articles are of even more than usual interest. Altogether the fame of Harper is forwarded by this number.

Thanks.—We beg to return our thanks to Mr. L. Peterson, the courteous proprietor of Rosedale Nurseries, on the Ohio river—a few miles from the city—for a choice fruit sent us. Mr. Peterson has one of the most desirable residences that can be seen within a twenty miles of the city.

A Conflict of Colors.—Many years ago, a lady of color, named Sally Duffy, died in Virginia, leaving two children, a boy and a girl. The boy was taken to Ohio by a white family, and the girl remained in Virginia. The boy grew up, and married a white girl, and the girl married a colored man. Recently the boy died, and the girl, who had not seen her brother for many years, came to Ohio to see him. She found him dead, and his wife refused to recognize her as a relative. The case is now in the Probate Court, and will be a hard one for a hearing.

The Allegheny County Agricultural Fair—Prominent Displays—The Fair to be Continued Several Days Longer.

The weather yesterday again interfered with the attendance at the County Fair, now being held at Iron City Park, near Lawrenceville. There were but few visitors on the ground, and the exhibitors and managers felt quite disconsolate at the prospects. A cold drizzling rain fell at intervals during the day, which rendered the grounds

THE CONGRESSIONAL PLAN.

NUMBER TWO.

Having considered the nature and probable effects of the first section of the Constitutional Amendment, let us now proceed to review

"SEC. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed; but whenever the right to vote at any election for Electors of President and Vice President, and for United States Representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers, or the members of the Legislatures thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged; except for participation in the rebellion, or other crimes, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State."

The design of this provision is not to establish inequalities in the basis of representation, but to abate such as already exist, not to lay hardships on the shoulders of any, but to take hardships off which are already on. It proposes to adjust one of the old compromises of the Constitution, which grew out of the existence of slavery to the actual condition of the country now that slavery is abolished.

For a full and proper understanding of the section it is needful to note what it does not propose. By it, negro suffrage is not established, either in federal, State or municipal elections. No change, whatever, is made in the existing basis of the elective franchise. If it should be adopted to-day the number of voters, in the country at large, or in any particular State, would still have the right, as amply as they have it now, to determine who shall vote, and on what conditions. Each State would be just as free after the incorporation of this section into the Constitution as they are now, to take the right of voting from any individuals or classes, or to confer that right upon individuals or classes who are now deprived of it. So far, no change, whatever, is contemplated.

What is proposed is that voters, and not people, shall be the basis of representation. The design is to give to each voter, in whatever State he may live, an equal amount of influence in the general government; to make a ballot in South Carolina weigh no heavier and operate no more potentially, than a ballot in Pennsylvania.

"Indians not taxed" are not counted now in apportioning representation, and it is not proposed to count them in time to come. This class of Indians are those who are living upon reservations, subject to the authority of their chiefs. They are not citizens of the United States; owe no allegiance to the government, and are not amenable to its laws. Indians, living outside the reservations, are citizens, vote on the same conditions as white men, and are counted with their families in apportioning representation.

When the Constitution was framed slavery existed in most of the States. To adapt that instrument to the actual condition of affairs, it was provided that five slaves should be counted as equivalent to three free people in apportioning representation, and that all free people, white or black, should be counted alike. The States that had the largest proportion of slaves wanted to count them all. This was resisted by the States having only a few slaves; and the result was a compromise. In consequence of emancipation all the blacks will be counted in apportioning members of Congress and Presidential Electors, while the number of voters will not be increased.

It is computed that the black population of the South amounts to 4,200,000 souls. On a basis of 127,000 to a representative Emancipation will give the Southern States thirteen additional Congressmen, making the total representation of that section for black people thirty-two members, for which white people will do all the voting.

There is another aspect of the case. The whole population of the Southern States is rated at eight millions. Of these five millions may be computed as rebels, in the full meaning of the word; and the other three millions as loyal. The five millions of white rebels, as the Constitution stands, will comprise a large majority of the voting population. The three millions of white loyalists and the four millions of black ones, will be entirely at their mercy; for they will wield the entire political power of the Southern States. In addition to the representatives in Congress they will be entitled to as constituting a majority of the voters, they will have thirty-two additional members on account of the blacks. These five millions of rebels will practically have in the government the whole weight of twelve millions and odd hundreds of thousands of the population. Even assuming the white inhabitants to be all loyal, by reason of the blacks, their political [illegible] will be increased one-half—that is, every one hundred white people in the South will have about as much influence as every one hundred and fifty whites in the North. This cannot be called republican; much less democratic.

These are thirty-six States. Sixteen of these States, up to the Proclamation of Emancipation, were slave States. It follows that if the Constitution shall not be amended, the five millions of white rebels will send thirty-two members to the National Senate, while the twenty millions of whites in the northern States will be entitled only to forty. Five northern Senators corrupted, either by sophistry or bribery, and the control of the Senate would fall into the hands of the rebels.

The House of Representatives, when full, consists properly of 233 members; though by the admission of new States since the last apportionment, the actual number has been raised to 241. Probably 233 will be the number under the next apportionment. Of these 233 members 85 belong to the southern States, when restored, and 151 to the north. Thirty-five northern members acting with the southern members would give the five millions of white rebels the control of the House of Representatives.

As the case stands, however, the South will be entitled to 13 additional members of the House after the next census; while the northern States will lose that number, or something like it. This is the southern gain and northern loss by Emancipation. Of course, this statement is made on the presumption that the whole number of members will not be increased. This is not an exact, but an approximate statement; but it is close enough for the present purpose.

If the proposed amendment shall be adopted the South will lose no member of the Senate, but will have to part with nineteen members of the House assigned to them under the last apportionment; and these nineteen the North will gain. This would reduce the number of Southern representatives to 69, and send up the number of Northern members to 170.

Of course those Northern States in which the blacks should be denied the right to vote would lose somewhat in representation. On this head the Democrats have been circulating estimates which have slight foundation in fact. According to the last census, the aggregate free black population of the Union numbered 476,636 souls, of which 243,497 were in the Southern States, and 235,149 in the Northern. Excluding the blacks, therefore, from the basis of representation would not take from the entire North two members. In Pennsylvania, the number of free blacks, in 1860, was 56,949. This is a large fraction of the quota for one member. It would depend, consequently, on the size of the fraction in the count of the white population whether this State would lose a member or not.

It is of no importance what the actual number of members would be. The relative number is the real matter to be adjusted, for this determines the intrinsic political power of the respective States.

It is undeniable that under this section the Southern States would feel the pressure of a strong inducement to extend the right of voting to the blacks. By so doing a gain would be made of thirty-two members in the popular branch of Congress. But on this matter there would be a strong antagonism between political parties in each of the Southern commonwealths. No political party, in any country, every voluntarily increased the number of voters, unless it had a reasonable assurance of gaining strength by the measure. This may not be creditable to human nature; but such is the fact. So long, therefore, as the blacks continue to lean, as they do now, to the loyal side, there is no reason to apprehend the dominant party in those States will consent to their enfranchisement. However desirable increased influence might be in Congress, the Democratic managers would not care to gain it by throwing the control of sixteen States out of their hands. If, in the course of events, the blacks, or a majority of them, should turn Democrats, the day of their enfranchisement would be near at hand. So, if a considerable portion of the rebels, or their descendants, shall attain to juster political views, and shall unite with the present loyalists or their descendants, the right of voting will accrue to the blacks. But these mutations of parties are apparently so far off, it is useless to speculate concerning them.

It is sufficient for the present to understand that the second section of the proposed amendment corrects existing injustices without laying so much as a feather's weight of wrong upon any State or individual. It equalizes the power of voters, and that is all. Under it, each voter will be certain to get his exact fraction of political influence, and he will get no more. Real grievances will be removed, while no new ones will be created. An aristocratic element will be obliterated, and a democratic one vindicated and established.

THE HON. G. A. GROW.

This gentleman is announced to speak in the City Hall to-night. His worth as a statesman, the fullness of his experience in public affairs, and the admirable manner in which he handles the grave issues now awaiting the decision of the American people, are reasons why he should have a crowded and appreciative auditory.

Mr. Grow came into public life at an early age. He was originally a Democrat. When Mr. DAVID WILMOT offered the celebrated Proviso which gave his name a conspicuous place in the annals of his times, the Democrats resolved to banish him from the House of Representatives. They held it to be both a heresy and a crime to endeavor to circumscribe slavery by preventing its extension into Free Territory. But Mr. WILMOT had obtained to so remarkable a degree the confidence of his constituents, that while the leaders felt strong enough to defeat his re-nomination, they were afraid of his influence afterwards. Hence, as a sort of condonement for the indignity contemplated, they offered him the President Judgeship of his district, and finally consented he should name his successor in Congress. His choice fell on Mr. GROW, then just of Constitutional age for the preferment. Mr. GROW was elected, and immediately justified to the public the sagacity of his friend. Soon followed the political revolution in the Bradford district, free discussion winning a magnificent triumph in converting a stronghold of democracy into a citadel of republicanism. Mr. GROW continued in Congress, but shifted his quarters from the democratic to the republican benches. His was no betrayal; for he acted both in accordance with his own convictions and the sentiments of his constituents. He was repeatedly re-elected, closing an uncommonly long period of service as Speaker of the House.

He is not a man of genius. He is sound and reliable, rather than brilliant and striking. Throughout his public career he has been open and uncompromising. Always in the advance—always chivalrous—he has left neither friend or foe in doubt as to his purposes. He is preeminent "a safe man to tie to."

Identified until recently with the North, since his retirement from Congress he has become a citizen of Venango county, in the pursuit of his private affairs. As a man of the west—as a man of the whole Commonwealth, let him have to-night both a welcome and hearing.

—The following are a few items from the prices current of Tecumseh, a town in the northeastern part of Michigan, viz: Butter, per pound, 23 cents; lard, 15; chickens, 15; turkeys, 15; eggs, per dozen, 13; beef, per 100 pounds, dressed, $8; corn meal, per 100 pounds, $1.50; apples, per bushel, 50 cents; do. dried, per pound, 9 cents; honey, in box, per pound, 20 cents.

The War a Failure—The President a Dictator.

DEAR GAZETTE:—The war, after all, may indeed be considered a failure, because it left on our hands a President who flies in the face of Congress and dares to counteract the results of the war by restoring the old causes of the war.

Where in the South do you find free speech, a free Press, or free men—but in the interest of traitors?

True, Slavery is killed, but we find serfdom instead. The black loyalist still "has no rights to be respected." We find rebels clamoring for the same advantage over the North at the ballot box they had before the war. When they speak of their rights they mean the rights of traitors, as if traitors had any rights but the right to hang. The loyal men of the South do not at all enter into these calculations.

Indeed the country is in a worse condition than before the war, for then Unionists were not molested; now it is so common to murder them by wholesale or drive them off and destroy their property.

The war is not only a failure, but the country is cursed with a Dictator who defies the Congress of the people and sets up the one man power. Where is the manhood of the North?

LAWRENCEVILLE, Sept. 19, '66. H.

Reconstruction in New Orleans.

The following letter was picked up in the depot at Springfield, Illinois, on the 8th instant:

"MAYOR'S OFFICE,
"NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 8, 1866.

"His Excellency, President Johnson, Washington, D. C.:

"In reply to yours of 1st inst., I would state that any person opposing yourself or your policy of reconstruction finds little favor with our citizens. The removal of Gen. Sheridan would give unfeigned satisfaction.

"If it was not for fear of your friends in the North taking umbrage, I would advise the withdrawal of the American flag. It is very obnoxious here, and such a concilliation would be very flattering to the popular heart. Its display at the Convention was quite as irritating as the complexion of the assemblage.

"With sincere wishes for the success of your efforts at reconstruction,

"I am, your obedient servant,
"JOHN T. MONROE."

—A grotesque characterization of Andrew Johnson's speeches is made by "Warrington," in his last letter to the Springfield Republican. He writes:

"This tour is merely a show, and Randal is the Van Amburgh. Some young men who were at Mahomet last week had a caravan song, one verse of which ran thus;

"'This is the roaring lion,
You'd better keep shy of him, boys,
For when he gets into a fit of rage,
He makes the following noise.'"

[Indescribably melancholy howl.]

"So with Andrew Johnson. He makes the following noise."

—A fearful visitation of Providence happened at Chicago, on the 15th inst., under the following circumstances: A tailor, from Germany, named Lubenheimer, residing on the North Side, was accused of having stolen some money, which he positively denied, calling upon God to strike him dead if he was not speaking the truth. The fearful imprecation had hardly been uttered before the self-convicted perjurer fell to the floor a dead man.

BE ON THE ALERT! DANGER

IS AT HAND!—This has been a sickly season. The medical faculty prophesy evil in the future. They think pestilence is on the wing for America. Suppose this to be true, what is the best defense against it? REDOUBLED NERVOUS VIGOR. This is the only protection against PANIC, as well as against the PRINCIPLE OF INFECTION. Why do not those who predict the epidemic propose an adequate preventive? There IS one—a tonic, nervine and alterative, competent to shield the system against the subtle elements of disease, whether they float hither on the winds from distant climes, or the vapor from our own soil, or are incorporated with the universal fluid. This ONE PREVENTIVE, of which there is no duplicate among the compounds either of the Old World or the New, is

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Remember that it is a specific for all the complaints which lay the system open to visitations of deadly epidemics. If you are dyspeptic, it renews the vigor of your digestive powers, revives your appetite, and restores your cheerfulness. If you are nervous, it invigorates every fibre of your nervous system, from the base of the brain, where it begins, to the extremities, where it terminates. If you are bilious, it disciplines your unruly liver and brings the action of its organs into harmony with the laws of health. It is, in short, an invigorant and alterative so powerful that Nature, with Hostetter's Bitters for her ally, need defiance alike to malaria and foreign infection. If this enemy we hear of, this disease which is desolating Europe, is really bound hitherward, it behooves the PEOPLE TO PUT ON THEIR ARMOR, to clothe themselves with invincerability as far as human means will permit, by preparing the system for resistance with this pure vegetable antidote. se19:

(ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS ON FIRST PAGE.)

The Perpetrators of a Horrible Crime in Custody—Important Trial—The Hatfield Rape Case.

The memory of the horrible Hatfield rape, occurring as it did on the same night with the shooting of young Helligans by his intimate friend, Brahe, near the same place, must be fresh in the memory of our readers. On the morning of Sunday, July 29th, some men who were passing along the Butler plank road by the lane that led to the house of Thomas Donnelly, Esq., in Hatfield, saw three men standing under some trees near the house and motioning for them to come up. On approaching them, they saw the insensible form of a young girl lying on the ground under the trees, her clothes torn and dirty, her limbs and body bruised, and her person evidently having been most brutally outraged. The young men who stood by her said that they were passing there and found her in the condition described. She was removed to the house of Mr. Donnelly, and Dr. Robison called to attend her. For a long time—indeed, until recently—her case was very uncertain, and it was feared she would die. Eventually she gave her name as Fanny Smith, and was discovered to have lived in Allegheny. The Mayor and his police spared no pains, and at length found a clue which led to the arrest of James Welsh, Wm. Kinzie and Wm. McMillen, residents of Hatfield. These men were confined until she should recover sufficiently to be more fully questioned in the matter. Eventually they were all taken before her in company with others, and she identified them without hesitation, as the guilty parties. They then had a hearing, and in default of $10,000 bail each, were committed for trial.

Yesterday they were brought into court and arraigned in the usual form, each one pleading not guilty. District Attorney Duff, John Coyle Esq., and M. Swartzweider, Esq., appear for the prosecution, and Messrs. Moffatt and Cochran, Gen. A. L. Pearson, Thos. Marshall, Esq., and Wm. Owens, Esq., for the defence.

Mr. Moffatt, one of the counsel for defendant, made a motion to quash the indictment and gave as his reasons, that the defendants were jointly charged in the indictment with committing a rape upon the prosecutrix when it appeared that only one of them had committed the rape. Mr. Moffatt cited law which went to show that the word "ravish" must be inserted to constitute an indictment for rape, and that the prisoners must be severally charged as aiders or abettors. District Attorney Duff objected and cited authority, where more than one defendant had been indicted, tried and convicted on the charge.

The Court agreed with the District Attorney, and the trial was proceeded with.

John Coyle, Esq., on behalf of the Commonwealth, addressed the jury. The Commonwealth, he said, would be able to establish the fact that, on the night of the 28th of July, the defendants in the case, dragged the victim of this outrage along the Lawrenceville plank road, notwithstanding her cries for mercy, to a retired lane. One of the defendants drew a knife and threatened that if she made any noise, he would cut her throat. When they reached the lane, she was thrown upon the ground and held down by two of the defendants, and ravished by the third. This was repeated several times. Subsequently at the house of Mr. Donnelly, she succeeded in identifying the defendants as the perpetrators of the outrage. These and other points the Commonwealth would be able to establish.

Fanny Smith was the first witness sworn, and took the stand, deeply veiled. In commencing her testimony she evinced considerable agitation.

My name is Fanny Smith, I reside in Hatfield, near the Cemetery, with Mr. Donnelly. Have lived here seven weeks; I came to Mr. Donnelly's on Sunday morning; I formerly lived with Mr. Shannon, in Allegheny. On Saturday, before I went to Mr. Donnelly's, I had taken my clothes over to Allegheny and had come over to this side to look for another place; I heard of a place out by the cemetery; a gentleman living out there said he wanted a servant and I was on my way out there when I sat down to rest near the Cemetery, on Saturday afternoon. While I was sitting there, I got into conversation with Kinzie, came up and spoke to me, and asked me to take a ride with him; I told him I didn't want to go; he said his aunt wanted a girl and insisted that I should go with him. At last I consented, and we rode in a car to the corner of a lane and got out and went up to a large house; there was nobody home, and we went back to the road; he then told me he wanted me to go to town with him; I refused, when he said I had got to go; I was very easy frightened, and came with him; it was dark when we got to the city; he then told me that I had to go back with him; I was frightened and he compelled me to go; we got off the cars at Lawrenceville and went down towards the railroad track; there we found three other men; one was McMilin and one was Welsh; Kinzie told me I had to go with them; I begged them to let me go home, but he said I must go, and he and McMillan took hold of me and dragged me along; I commenced to cry out, but they threatened me and I stopped; they dragged me along by the Cemetery, and I cried out again and an old woman came out and tried to take hold of me; they drove her off and called her some hard names. McMillan then drew a knife and said if I didn't keep still he would cut my throat, and dragged me away from the old woman. Further up the road, beyond the lane, we met two young fellows whom they called Brahe and Helligan. Helligan tried to persuade the boys to let me go, for I might be a decent girl, and it was wrong to abuse me. They told him to shut up for they did not want anything to do with him. He insisted and they quarrelled, at last I saw McMillan shoot Helligan. He fell, and then McMillan and Kinzie brought me back to Mr. Donnolly's lane. The other boys had hidden along the road. In the lane they threw me down and one of them held his hand over my mouth; then Tom McCune or Kinzie ravished me; after that the others did the same as Tom did; McMillan, Welsh and Kinzie and two smaller boys, who I don't know, ravished me, and some of them ravished me several times; four or five times each; they stayed with me until daylight. I tried all the while to get away from Kinzie, and pleaded with him when we were alone, and after the others had joined us, to let me go, but they refused. I continued to struggle and cry after we had left the old woman. I am very much injured by the abuse I received; was confined to my bed for five weeks. Dr. Robison attends me. The first I remember after daylight on Sunday morning was when I came to myself in Mr. Donnelly's house. I came from New York to this city. Have no friends here. Have no father or mother, brother or sister.

Cross-examined by Mr. Moffatt—In the month of July last I resided in Allegheny with Mr. Shannon; left there on the fourth of July; went to New Brigaton and staid two weeks. In Brighton I lived with Mr. Townsend From there I went to live with Mr. Roemer, in Oakland; staid there but a very short time. I left there on Saturday, the day before I was found at Mr. Donnelly's. That day I went over to Allegheny to Mr. Snair's to take my clothes for safe keeping. On the Suspension bridge, coming back, I met the gentleman I spoke of who wanted a servant. This was about three o'clock. He was going to Allegheny and I was coming to Pittsburgh. He told me where he lived, and I started to go there. He had told me that he lived near the railroad track, and directed me to go out to the cemetery and then to the big brick house near the steam mill by the railroad. I did not see the gentleman afterwards. I got into some very quite a time. The first one who spoke to me there was Tom McCune; he is not the one I met on the bridge; staid with him at the house where we went only a few minutes; think we left there before sundown; came back to the cemetery, and then got on another car and came to Pittsburgh; this was after dark; we then went back to the cemetery on the same car; I wanted to get rid of Tom McCune; he compelled me by threats, or I would not have gone back with him; was late when we got back; nobody was with us then; he staid with me all the time; we took me down to the railroad, where the other boys were.

By Mr. Marshall—I did not learn the name of the gentleman who engaged me to work for him. He only gave me a direction to find his house without telling me his name; I did not ask his name. Before I came to Pittsburgh I lived in Albany, N. Y.; I left Albany with Mr. Shannon last spring; I am about twenty-two years old. The gentleman I met was a middle aged man, not very tall; he had on dark clothes; I talked with him only a few minutes. We made no special arrangement of terms; I was anxious to get any place to work and was not particular. Did not stop at all before I got to the Cemetery, but walked slowly out there and sat down on the grass. It took me a good while to get there, for I walked slowly. I had sat there about twenty minutes before Tom spoke to me. He first asked me how far it was to Lawrenceville; I told him I did not know, and he sat down beside me. He then requested me to go with him on the car to his aunt's. He did not threaten me then; there were trees around the house, where we went and nobody about. He did not attempt to take any advantage of me. He afterwards compelled me to come back to Pittsburgh with him, by taking hold of my arm and saying I had to go with him. I was too much frightened to ask anybody to help me. I did not put my arm around Tom's neck in the car, and he did not put his arm about me. Kinzie objected to these questions.) Do not know how many passengers were in the car. When we got to Pittsburgh we got out, and he took me into the station against my will, telling me I had to go. He took me out of the station, and took me to the same car to go back, compelling me to go with him again. He did not leave the station house once while I was there. When we were getting on the car I tried to get away from him, but he caught hold of me, and told me if I resisted he would have me arrested. That frightened me and I went. I had no conversation with him, except to ask him to let me go. I made no attempt to get off the car and leave him, because I was afraid he would prevent me. When we got to the cemetery he took hold of me and forced me to go with him to the house at the same place. I did not ask him to help me because I was afraid to; asked him repeatedly to let me go. After going back to the cemetery, as we were going along the board walk, near the old woman's house, Tom wanted to ravish me on the board walk, in the presence of the others. I struggled and cried out, when the old woman came over and tried to get me away. Helligan afterwards tried to get me away, and they all pitched onto him and had a fight; (at this point witness was too much overcome to proceed for some time.) McMillan drew out a pistol on Helligan. Helligan said he had been a soldier and the pistol would not scare him; Tom McCune seized the pistol and fired at Helligan, but did not hit anybody; McMillan seized the pistol again and said: "when you pistol, you must shoot, shock," and fired at Helligan; Helligan fell. And I scream. McMillan then said: "Take her away or she'll expose the whole of us." They took me up and carried me to the place where I was found; I did not walk at all, they held me through all the way; Tom McCune ravished me first and it was only a short time after the shooting; the rest followed soon after. About daylight I heard one of them say, "there comes somebody, let's say we found her here." The names of the other two boys were not called at all, and I do not know that they violated me. All present at the time I think I told Mr. Al Pearson in the presence of Mayor McCarthy and Mr. Moffatt and Mr. Owens that Tom McCune violated me first and then Kinzie, and I believe Welsh followed next, and then McMillan, and then the two smaller boys; I am not certain of the order in which they followed; I am sure that Tom McCune was the first; I am sure that Kinzie was the second; I am not certain of the order in which the others followed; I am sure that McMillan was the last

FINANCE AND TRADE.

WEDNESDAY, September 19, 1865.

The New York stock quotations to-day were as follows: Gold, 145¾@145¾; 1881's, 111½; Five Twenties, old, 111½; do, new, 108½; Ten Forties, 99; Seven Thirties, large, 106; do small, 105¾. Cleveland & Pittsburgh R. R., 85½; Fort Wayne, 105½; Erie, 74¼; Chicago & Rock Island, 113½; Chicago & Northwestern, 36; do preferred, 68½; Western Union Telegraph, 57¼; Michigan Southern, 84½.

The majority of our business houses are getting ready for the fall and winter season, and it is probable that there will be a fair volume of trade, without pressing goods on the market. The great bulk of the transactions will be on a cash or short paper basis, and business men prefer to borrow money while rates of interest are low, and pay cash for all their purchases, rather than run book accounts. This will in part account for the demand for money that would otherwise lay idle with corporations on individuals, who have generally loanable funds for short paper. Six or eight month's paper, with first class signatures, that used to pass here at a fair interest, is now almost unsaleable, except where the parties are very well known, and capitalists prefer corporati on bonds or stocks to business paper.

Government bonds are a little firmer on 10-40s and new 5-20s, but lower for 1881s and 7-30s. For gold there is more inquiry, and some predict higher rates before the elections take place.

Bank shares are held firmly, and the ease in the money market keeps the stock list moving upward, and "bears" are powerless for the present. Columbia Oil stock is in demand with sales reported at 18 to 18½.

The following comparative statement of the average condition of the leading items of the Philadelphia Banks for the past and previous wee :

	Last week.	This week.
Capital	$14,642,150	$14,642,150
Loans	30,220,058	29,889,013	Dec $331,045
Specie	836,345	802,922	Dec 33,423
Legal-tend'rs	24,134,918	24,328,249	Inc 193,331
Deposits	41,004,902	41,003,120	Inc 138,217
Circulation	9,008,410	9,005,817	Dec 2,593

The bank movement the past week has been a very even one, the greatest change in one of the items being a decrease of $331,045 in loans. The legal tenders increased $193,450, and the deposits $138,217. There was a small decrease in specie and in circulation. The slight changes noticed, however, were the result of local and temporary causes, and indicate no change of policy by the banks, present or prospective.

—Says the Philadelphia Press:

The money market continues to rule easy, at 6@6 per cent for call loans, with exceptional transactions below this former rate. There is less demand for currency for moving the Western crops than has been anticipated. Instead of a heavy flow of money westward, we find exchanges with that section nearly evenly balanced. This is very much due to the liberation of a large amount of currency from the treasury in liquidation of the temporary loan. On the 1st of September over $15,000,000 of the temporary loan remained unredeemed, the holders of certificates not having presented them for liquidation, a fact which very strikingly illustrates how little money is at present in demand. This amount has, however, since been gradually redeemed, with a corresponding addition to the supply of currency on the market. It is not presumable that the redemption of the remaining $6,358,000 of the temporary loan will have any very important effect upon the money market. The whole amount is represented by clearing house certificates, which serve as part of the legal-tender reserve of the banks, and the legal tenders received in liquidation will have to be held as reserve, or paid out in purchase of compound interest notes to be used in the same capacity. So far as the proceeds of the redemption are invested in the "compounds" the amount of circulation will be increased by the measure, but no further.

—The New York Tribune says:

The payment in full of the clearing-house certificates, on the 25th of October, will reduce the Sub-Treasury balances materially, and from this time forward people may safely calculate upon the Secretary withdrawing from market as a buyer of government stocks to keep his balance down. The revenue of the Department is fixed at $2,200,000 per week in excess of the expenditures, a million of which is to be left in the public depositories. The purchase of $2,500,000 of temporary loan, or of funded debt, is going on to keep the market steady and insure a reduction of 7-30s into long gold bearing bonds.

—The Washington Chronicle makes the following explanation of the last statement of Secretary McCulloch. It says: "The public debt contains the new item of navy pension fund, under the head of debt bearing coin interest. Its total, $1,790,000, was heretofore included in the temporary loan. The matured debt not presented for payment exhibits an increase over the August total, $4,670,160, of $14,983,283. This is chiefly owing to the withdrawal from the Treasury of a portion of the matured temporary loan. The apparent decrease in the total of the temporary loan during the month is $6,373,466; the actual decrease $46,394,186. The discrepancy arises from the transfer from the temporary loan to the debt bearing coin interest of the navy pension fund and to the matured debt not presented for payment of the matured temporary loan. The total of the transferred claims amounts to $29,732,283.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September 19, 1865.

The general markets continue excessively dull, and what is worse still, there are no indications at present of any immediate improvement. The operations in produce are very much restricted, as the demand is very light, and confined mainly to supplying the immediate wants of small dealers and consumers; besides, the extremely high prices prevailing for Wheat and Flour, has completely quelched out anything like a speculative feeling.

GRAIN—There is no movement in Wheat, and but little in the markets. Oats firm but unchanged; small sales at 43 to 45. Rye is quoted at 95 to $1. Sale of 1 car prime Shelled Corn at 80, and small sales at 80 to 85. Nothing doing in Barley.

FLOUR—Is firm, with a continued a fair local demand, and we can report regular sales at $11 00 to $12,00 for Spring Wheat; $12,50 for half Spring and half Winter, and $13 to $13,50 for all Winter Wheat. Rye Flour is selling at $6,50 to $6,75.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is unchanged; regular sales at 17½ to 17¾ for Shoulders; 19½ to 20 for Ribbed Sides, and 25 to 26 for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is dull and unchanged at 21¾ for prime kettle. Mess Pork is firm at $34,00 to $34,75.

APPLES—Continue very dull, with a supply largely in excess of the demand. We quote nominally at $1,50 to $2,50 per barrel, as to quality.

ASHES—Firm but unchanged at 6 for common Soda; 8¼ for Refined, and 15 for Pearls.

SEEDS—There is no abtement in the demand for Flax-seed, and there is little or none in market. May be quoted firm at $2,20 to $2,25. Timothy Seed is excessively dull, and found lots could doubtless be had at $3,15 to $3,25. No demand for Clover.

BUTTER—Prime Roll Butter is in fair demand and firm, with sales at 30 to 33. Fresh Packed, in small packages, is selling at 25 to 30.

EGGS—Scarce and in demand, and fresh packed sell readily at 22.

SWEET POTATOES—A little dull and a shade lower, selling at from $5,75 to $6,00 per barrel.

CHEESE—Is selling at 15 to 16 for Western Reserve; 17 to 18 for Hamburg, and 20 to 21 for Goshen.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, 1865.

CRUDE—The market for Crude was dull and weak to-day, and in the face of a "big river" and heavy arrivals, dealers were disposed to make concessions in order to effect sales. We quote at 14, bbls returned, and 19, bbls included, as the nominal rates to-day, against 14½ to 15, bbls returned, and 19½ to 20, bbls included, yesterday. Sales of 1000 bbls in bulk, at 14¼, and 600 bbls at same price, though towards the close, buyers, generally, were disposed to hold off in anticipation of a still further reduction. The advices from the east continue discouraging, and this, together with an expectation of heavy arrivals, has a very damaging effect on the market for holders.

REFINED—There is no improvement to note in the demand for bonded oil, and the market continues dull and weak with a drooping tendency. We can report a sale of 500 barrels for November delivery in Philadelphia, at 48, and there were some sales effected for immediate delivery at same price. There is apparently more offering than there has been for some time past, and as is frequently the case, parties who a few weeks ago, were unwilling to sell at 45 and 46, are anxious to contract now at 43 and 44. Free oil is dull and easily sustains prime standard brands may be quoted at 50.

—Since the above was put in type, we have a sale of 300 bbls reported for October, at 45. The following arrivals of oil are reported to-day:

Fisher & Bro	200	Jas. Wilkins	303
J. Ely	1800	D. M. Edgerton	1900
J. B. Strickler	200
Total			4858

The Crops in Michigan.

The Detroit Post says:

Accounts from correspondents in all parts of the State confirm the assertion that the corn crop of the present year will be very large, as also buckwheat, potatoes, and the other less important small grains and ground crops. The latter is below the average in quantity, but above that point in quality. There will certainly be no scarcity of apples for home consumption, but if there should be a considerable outside demand prices will probably rule high. The corn crop, as is generally known, far surpasses that of previous years, and prices are correspondingly low. Stock will increase the yards in fine order in nearly all parts of the State.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

New York Stock and Money Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The Gold market closed up quietly at 145¾. Cash gold was loaned to-day at 3-16@¼ per cent.; the closing rate was 5-32 per cent. The market for Exchange is quiet and steady; private bankers' bills are quoted nominally at 107@107¾. The Government securities are firm this afternoon at our quotations below. At the last open Board the market was very firm on Railways, and higher prices were made in some instances especially in Erie and Toledo.

After the board the whole market was strong but Erie was the favorite, at a further advance. The rise in Toledo is due to the increased net earnings of the road, and Michigan Southern is attracting more attention from the same cause at the afternoon session of the mining board. There was less activity and less excitement and was some disposition to realize profits, and a general, but not marked decline, in prices from the highest point. This reaction was quite natural after the large advance and we presume that the Company will send up another boat this evening.

Capt. Sam Shuman has removed with his family from Brownsville to this city, and we wish it to be distinctly understood hereafter that Capt. Sam is now a citizen of Pittsburgh. We have no doubt the good people of Brownsville were sorry to part with Capt. Shuman, but what is their loss is our gain.

Capt. Porter will commence loading his new steamer Ezra Porter for New Orleans on Monday next. As we have already stated, this boat was built for the New Orleans and Red River trade. The Belle Vernon, Capt. Darragh's new boat, is almost completed, and will soon be ready for business.

The Armenia, Capt. McCallum, is announced for St. Louis, the Argosy, Capt. Vandergrift, for Cincinnati, and the Importer, Capt. Noss, for New Orleans. These are all first rate boats in every respect.

The Bayard, Capt. Geo. D. Moore, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving promptly at noon.

The Grey Eagle will take the place of the Forest City in the Parkersburgh trade next week. We are informed by Capt. Gordon, that he will arrive here on Monday night with a large delegation of ex-soldiers to attend the Convention.

The Allegheny River Navigation Company started their first boat for Oil City and Tidioute yesterday. The following are the list of officers: President, James Rees; Treasurer, J. R. McCune; Secretary, J. K. Caldwell; Directors, W. S. Evans, T. H. Williams, H. Kelley, E. Gordon, J. Laughrey, Esq., and T. M. Rees, Esq. The capital stock of the company is $150,000, divided in 3,000 shares, $50 each. The business of the company is the transportation of freight and passengers on the Allegheny river and other waters, as the Board of Directors may deem advisable. The boats of the company are as follows: Peerless, Ida Rees No. 2, Echo No. 3, Leclair No. 2, Uricle and Belle. These boats have all been placed in first rate order for the fall trade.

Mr. Roberts, Engineer, by Government appointment, of the proposed improvement of the Ohio river, started down the river yesterday, to make preliminary surveys. For this purpose, a light draught steamer, the "Greenback," Capt. John Rodgers, has been chartered. Mr. Roberts will be accompanied and assisted in the discharge of his official duties by Capt. George Rowley, a river pilot of experience, and also by Capt. John Kerr, recently engaged in coal boating interest.

Having with him Major Sanderson's excellent charts of the most important points, showing the extreme low water state of the river, and, moreover, at what stages, and the reports of others, he is of the opinion that the present medium stage of water will suit the present investigation very well.

The Cincinnati Commercial, of Tuesday, says:

Mr. F. B. Radcliff, late of Wood's Theatre, together with his family, left on the Armadillo yesterday for New Orleans. Mr. Alex. Montgomery is in charge of the office of the Armadillo.....The Bertha reshipped 80 tons of iron ore on the R. R. Hudson yesterday.....The Mollie Norton lays up for the present to receive a new cabin. The Charleston will take her place in the Higginport trade, on the 18—mail.

The Saugatuck, Capt. F. J. Oakes, will load for New Orleans next, having withdrawn from the Memphis trade.....The Silver Cloud No. 2, Capt. Cheney, goes to Cairo to-day.....The Liberty No. 4 came in from Wheeling with two barges in tow for Saint Louis, containing 700 tons, principally nails, glassware, &c. She is now ready for a third barge, and is announced for St. Louis this evening.

The Inquirer, of same date says:

Many rumors are afloat respecting this line, one is that the steamer Wild Wagoner, as soon as she receives her new chimneys, will select the United States Mail Line, in which company she is reported to have been chartered in the place of the C. T. Dumont. Another is that the line will resume operations in about two weeks, and will make a hard push on the opposition more vigorous than before. So many rumors are going the rounds that we are completely at a loss to form an opinion.

RIVER NEWS.

The river rose considerably yesterday, and was still rising steadily last evening, with about six feet in the channel. At Oil City the Allegheny was rising rapidly in the forenoon, with forty inches in the channel at that point. As the recent rains appear to have been general, we are certainly destined to have high water, and we should not be surprised if there was a good old fashioned coal boat stage before forty-eight hours more elapse. The weather yesterday was wet and disagreeable, rendering out-door business almost out of the question.

The Forest City, from Parkesburg, and New Castle, from Wheeling, were the only arrivals from below. They both cleared again at noon. The Bayard is due here from Parkersburg this morning, and will return again at noon, and passengers and shippers should bear this fact in mind.

There was considerable stir at the Allegheny wharf yesterday, in consequence of the packets resuming their regular trips to Oil City. The Urilda left last evening with a fair trip, and we presume that the Company will send up another boat this evening.

Capt. Sam Shuman has removed with his family from Brownsville to this city, and we wish it to be distinctly understood hereafter that Capt. Sam is now a citizen of Pittsburgh. We have no doubt the good people of Brownsville were sorry to part with Capt. Shuman, but what is their loss is our gain.
